Providing Proof of Physical Presence for the CRBA application

How do I show that I was physically present in the United States prior to my child's birth?

In general, "physical presence" is counted as the time (before the birth of your child) that you were actually physically within the borders of the United States.

- Usually, physical presence does not need to be continuous, and visits of any length to the U.S.A. would count towards fulfilling the physical presence requirement;
- Conversely, any travel outside of the United States, including vacations, must be excluded;
- For purposes of the Consular Report of Birth Abroad (CRBA), it does not matter whether you were in the U.S.A. legally or illegally, or whether you were a U.S. citizen or a visitor to the U.S.A.;
- Time spent overseas for honorable U.S. military service or as the dependent of someone honorably serving in U.S. military often counts, but you will need to provide official records;
- Time spent while employed with the U.S. government or certain international organizations - or as the dependent of someone employed by the U.S. government or certain international organizations - may also count, but you will need to provide official records.

What types of documents may show that I was physically present in the United States?

You are the person who knows what you were doing when you were physically in the United States and may offer any proof you believe shows that you were actually there. You may have documents unique to your case - please feel welcome to provide them. However, some documentation has proven easier for many applicants to obtain, and for consular officers to use:

- Official school transcripts from primary, secondary or university education;
- Current and expired passports (both U.S. and foreign) with evidence of travel to the United States (but be aware that these must show both entries and exits to the U.S.A. - if you have used different passports to enter and exit the U.S.A., your actual travel dates may be difficult to establish);
- Military records of honorable service such as a Military Statement of Service or 00-214 Separation Statement;
- Prison records;

What types of documents do not show that I was physically present in the United States?

- A U.S. driver's license (does not show exactly when you were present in the U.S.A. or for how long);
- A diploma without relevant school transcripts (because a person may have earned or transferred credits from study abroad);
- A lease or mortgage for a residence (many people maintain residences in numerous countries or property abroad for rental purposes);
- Cell phone records;
- General financial statements that do not show your physical U.S. location (many people hold bank accounts around the world without actually spending time in those specific countries);
- Social media records that merely mention being in the U.S.A.;
- Income tax forms without pay stubs or W-2s (taxes can be paid from anywhere in the world).
